Do you have an open door right in front of you? What next? Or is it closed? Why? Life wants to be formed / shaped / designed. Decisions need to be made. In our daily coming (in) and going (out) one can hardly see the road ahead of him/her, while the other goes on his/her way determined and purpose-filled. Where and when do we really have the freedom to choose?

The workshop would like to offer an open door. This is an open door, to express your experiences through artistic language. Different painting techniques are being taught and can open brand new possibilities for relationship and for exchange.
